

So, you want to hire a designer?

Well, hi there! My name is

LAUREN KOLBER

and I'm a designer with unique skills.

I have a BFA from the University of Cincinnati. I was not trained to free-hand perfect circles nor did I have design theories drilled into me. I was taught to be creative and to find inspiration in the world around me. I have found this education to be a great advantage to my design work.

Going back to school to obtain my Masters degree in Media Arts and Technology at Duquesne University has honed my design skills. I've perfected my use of many of the Adobe CS 6 products and the experience has made me more confident with my abilities. Want to see for yourself?
